Prohibitory Laws Against Both White and Yellow Daisies.

BENZINE FOR TRACING PAPER.

A Combination Pavement of Cobblestones and Cedar Blocks.

ALUM FOR EXTINGUISHING PIRES

TREPARED FOR THE DISPATOR.

Both white and yellow daisies have been prohibited by law in two States-New York and Wisconsin-and in Canada, being placed on a par with the thistle as noxious and mischievous weeds. The New York statute says that both daisies and thistles shall be cut down twice a year along the lines of all canals and railroads, and on lands bordering the public highways, in June and July and in August and September, and in certain cases they may be cut down by anyone at the expense of any corporation on whose land they are found. In many of the fields in the vicinity of New York and throughout the States of New York and New Jersey the grass will often be white or yellow, as the case may be with daisies, which means the serious depreciatron of any crop sought to be raised on such ground. They are not enten by any kind of stock, and cattle avoid hay in which they are found, while they propagate themselves so rapidly that it is most difficult to eradicate them. One of the highly recommended among insect powders, that known as buhach, is made from pyrethrum, which is only a name of one of the varieties of the Safety Indicator for Elevators.

The frequency of mishaps to elevators has drawn attention to the necessity of adopting reliable devices for insuring the safety of passengers. In addition to the many natents which have been taken out with this object in view, a device has just been brought out whereby the condition of the automatic safety attachments to a passenger or freight elevator will be audibly manitested at every reciprocal movement of the elevator car. The elevator is fitted with a system of levers and a spring for controlling them or releasing them when they are required to engage the teeth of the racks running at the side of the elevator shaft, and thus instantly stop the car. To prevent ac-cident from an inoperative or defective spring, an alarm or signal bell is provided, and each time the supporting cable is slackened from any cause the bell is sounded. Should the bell fail to ring on the car reaching the bottom of the shaft, the absence of the signal would be an indication of a defect calling for immediate at-

Porcelnin Finish.

The Painter's Gazette gives the most approved method of producing the "porcelain finish," which is the latest craze for finishing dining rooms in pure white. If it is new work the wood must have a coat of shellac to prevent with the coat of shellac to prevent pitch from coming through; if hard pine it should receive two coats. If over old paint it must be sandpapered down to a perfectly smooth surface, and all imperfections filled with putty. Give the work four coats of French zine mixed with raw oil, and enough turpentine to make it dry with only an egg-shell gloss. Give enough time between each coat to dry perfectly hard, before applying another. When dry and hard sandpaper to a smooth surface with No. 0 paper, then it is ready tor the finish, which consists of two coats of French zine ground in, and thinned with Demar varnish. There should be no oil in this finishing coat, as it would tend to lessen the gloss and turn the paint yellow.

New Paving Experiments.

Among the recent experiments in paving is the combination of cedar blocks and cobblestones. The single horsecar track in the content of the street is newed with cabillations.

MACHINIST—A GENERAL HAND. INCOT. of Marion ave. and Martin st., Allegheny.

ecis. 181 center of the street is paved with cobblestones; a width of about eight feet on either side is payed with cedar blocks, and the rest of the way to the curb is paved with cobblestones. This gives a pavement which has some excellent points; its disadvantages are that the wood paving shows a tendency to wear in ruts, as the vehicles run so nearly wear in ruts, as the vehicles run so nearly Well-laid cedar block paying in Detroit lasts eight to ten years, and on some streets even 15 or 20 years. It is generally laid on sand, with sand brushed between the blocks. A pavement that is much more even, but which costs considerably more, is made by laying the cedar eks on concrete, with a cushion of sand between, and filling with coal tar betwee the blocks. Asphalt is now finding much favor in the replacing of cedar blocks on streets of heavy traffic.

Water in Extinguishing Fire. The theory of all fire extinguishers is to cut off the burning object from the surrounding atmosphere. This can be done by either a liquid or a solid substance, but water is the simplest and most natural one. Its efficacy as a fire extinguisher may, however, be increased by an addition of pulverized alum in sufficient quantity to give a saturated solution. On evaporating, this solution will leave on the material on which it has fallen a thin coating, having a high heat-resisting power. Potash and common salt should not be used, as the salts will salt should not be used, as the salts will volatilize and afterward precipitate themselves in various parts of a room or building, and tend to produce dampness from produce dampness from diately to T. B. EVERSON. their affinity for moisture.

Novel Stencil.

A novel stencil is now employed for putfing on large lettering on railway cars. The open spaces are covered with brass wire netting of about one-eighth inch mesh. A short stiff brush is used, with which the workman beats the steneil instead of brushing it, and so gets a good body of thick white lead upon the car. This lettering in said to keep bright much longer than that put on with the ordinary stencil, which can-not be thoroughly brushed in without danger of the paint creeping under the plate.

The following method of making paper transparent for copying drawings is adopted by the Austrian Hydrographic Bureau. The sheet of paper being placed over the drawing to be copied, it is slightly rubbed with a ball of cotton saturated with pure benzine. The tracing can then be readily made, owing to the transparency produced and the beozine on evaporating leaves the paper opaque as before, and perfectly odorless. To secure satisfactory results, how-ever, absolutely pure benzine must be used.

Handling Molten Metal. In a car wheel foundry in Detroit a very ingenious system for handling the molten metal from the cupolas to the flasks, and carrying the wheels to and from the soaking pits, has been introduced. The work is done by machinery entirely, a series of overhead trolleys, moved by a wire rope connection, carrying the ladles, flasks and wheels. The foundry has a capacity of 400 car wheels per day, and about 130 tons of metal can be handled in six hours by the new system.

The Luminous Buoy. Experiments have been made at Havre with a luminous buoy, invented by M. Dibos. The buoy emits the light-which is produced by phosphide of calcium—on reaching the water; and, as it is very powerful, the water is illuminated for considerable distance around. Spectators in the lighthouse at Havre saw the glare distinctly at a point two and a half miles away, and it is plainly visible for over five miles.
